A Note From the Pastor

EVERY HEART THIRSTS... BECAUSE HE THIRSTS FOR EVERY HEART

Week Three: The Stream is Poured Out

Dear St. Malachy Parishioners,

“As the deer longs for the running waters, so my soul longs for You, my God.” (Psalm 42). Two weeks ago, we began a three-week series on these words, which inspired the design of our upcoming stained glass windows. This week, we conclude that series with a reflection on the saving stream that is poured out to satisfy our thirst. Last week, we saw how that stream was the same as the promised living waters (John 4) poured out when the rock was struck (Exodus 17; 1 Corinthians 10), as blood and water poured out from His side (John 19).

The first appearance of the image of the stream in the Sacred Scriptures gives us an early hint that the stream is to be a source of life. In the second creation story, it is told that there was not yet any vegetation or growth on the earth. “But a stream was welling up out of the earth and watering all the surface of the ground” (Genesis 2:6). Even before this new life appears and grows, the stream acts as a sign of hope, as it appears to be preparing the earth to become fertile soil.

We see a clearer image of a stream flowing, which gives life, in a vision given to the Prophet Ezekiel. The prophet was given a vision of the temple and “I saw water trickling from the southern side” (Ezekiel 47). In the vision, the stream continues to grow, until “The water had risen so high, I would have to swim—a river that was impassable.” Already, the stream flowing from the temple, which both Our Lord and Saint Paul would use as an image of His Body, appears very much to be an image of the saving stream of Divine Mercy, that pours forth when the temple is destroyed, when His Body is broken and His Heart is pierced. But, there is still more to the vision: “I saw along the bank of the river a great many trees on each side... Wherever it flows, the river teems with every kind of living creature; fish will abound. Where these waters flow they refresh; everything lives where the river goes.” An abundance of life is found within this wonderful stream. “Along each bank of the river every kind of fruit tree will grow; their leaves will not wither, nor will their fruit fail. Every month they will bear fresh fruit because the waters of the river flow out from the sanctuary. Their fruit is used for food, and their leaves for healing.” The stream pouring forth from the sanctuary offers both nourishment and healing.

Here, we should recall how early Christians saw in the stream of Blood and Water pouring from His side upon the cross an image of Baptism and the Eucharist. The Eucharist, as the Source and Summit of all the Sacraments (and indeed of the whole Christian life) is that wonderful stream pouring forth from the sanctuary, offering life, nourishment and healing. In the early stages of prayerfully considering possibilities for a design for stained glass windows, a desire quickly emerged among those on the committee to represent the Sacraments. We explored different options and nothing quite seemed right, until we began to explore the idea of using Psalm 42. The thirst for life, nourishment and healing envisioned in the psalm is quenched through the Holy Eucharist and the rest of the sacraments.

A final image of this can be found at the conclusion of the Sacred Scriptures. The revelation to Saint John removes any doubt that the wonderful stream envisioned for Ezekiel as that which flows from the Lord Himself. “Then the angel showed me the river of life-giving water, sparkling like crystal, flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb down the middle of its street. On either side of the river grew the tree of life that produces fruit twelve times a year, once each month; the leaves of the trees serve as medicine for the nations.” So, when we hear the words “Behold the Lamb of God” at Mass, let us approach the altar with the confidence that the life, nourishment and healing for which we thirst is poured out for us there, flowing from the Lamb of God. May we rediscover His Love and seek to make Him more widely known! “They set out at once and returned to Jerusalem where they found gathered together the eleven and those with them... Then the two recounted what had taken place on the way and how he was made known to them in the breaking of the bread” (Luke 24:33,35).

PARISH NOVENA: It’s that time of year again already. Later this week, we will begin our parish novena for the Feast of Saint Malachy! We will celebrate the Feast Day together at the Sunday Masses on November 4-5. Thus, we will begin the novena on Friday, October 27. This year, we will pray it together at the conclusion of Mass or Communion Service each day. Copies will be distributed throughout the pews. We would ask that those hard copies remain in the pews. If someone would like a copy to take home, they will be available on the parish website and sent out through Flocknote. Don't hesitate to ask the office for assistance, if needed.

In Christ through Mary,
